Western Indian Ocean Certification of Marine Protected Area Professionals

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS Level 1~Marine Field Operations Certification (L 108) Deadline for Applications: 18th February 2017

The Western Indian Ocean Marine Science Association (WIOMSA) in partnership with the Coastal Resources Center at the University of Rhode Island (CRC) is pleased to announce the 7th offering of Level 1~Marine Field Operations Certification for Marine Protected Area Professionals to be held on the 8-12 May, 2017. The venue for the Assessment Event will be determined according to the geographical location of the majority of candidates.

The WIO-COMPAS programme assesses and certifies MPA Professionals in the WIO region based on recognised standards of excellence. This is not a training course but a certification programme based on proven performance on the job. Achieving certification shows that an individual has reached a high level of performance and skills in a specific set of competences. These competences are based on practical experience and application. After achieving certification and being given the title of MPA PRO, individuals agree to adhere to a set of professional standards of conduct or code of ethics. Therefore, this programme will admit only those who already meet a certain level of knowledge, skills and performance standards within core competence areas.

Certification Based on Job Performance in Core Competence Areas

MPA Professionals are assessed based on competences in the following areas:

- MPA Governance
- Marine Conservation: MPAs and other approaches
- Communication and Stakeholder Engagement
- Human and Financial Resources Mobilization and Management
- Management Implementation and Effectiveness
- Biophysical and Social Environment Context
- Leadership and Ethics and Innovation

Process for Level 1 Certification

- Portfolio of work experience
- In-depth Interviews
- Field simulation exercises
- Intensive 4 day assessment event
- Core Activity Document and Presentation
- Signing the Ethics Statement

Three Levels of Certification

Certification	For MPA professionals performing:	Job Examples
Level 1~ Marine Field Operations	practical day to day management of MPAs, and holding basic administrative responsibilities	MPA Rangers or Marine Field Operators
Level 2	principally management, supervisory and administrative functions and responsibilities within the MPA	MPA Manager, Assistant Manager, Site manager, Warden or Section Ranger
Level 3	principally high-level administrative and programme management functions, and developing strategy and policy	MPA Manager, Conservation Director, Head of Division or Director

What Are the Benefits to You and Your MPA?

As a participant in this Certification programme you benefit through:

- A professional assessment of your skills and knowledge in different aspects of MPA operations and management (each participant is assigned a personal assessor/mentor).
- Participation in a 4-day, in-person Assessment Event including some professional development sessions that will enhance your MPA skills and knowledge. You will hear from experts speaking on issues of importance to your MPAs. You will take the first steps in becoming part of a larger community of MPA practitioners in your region. And, through interactions with your assessors, speakers, and colleagues, you will share and generate new ideas and begin new ways of thinking about the important work you do and challenges you face.
- Developing a “Core Activity Document” (CAD) built around your core responsibilities and how to better address the issues facing your MPA. You will be required to make a presentation of this CAD to your colleagues and assessors as part of the assessment process.
- Committing to a Code of Ethics and Leadership that shows that you keep to high standards of professional competence, and respect both the rights of the individuals and groups of stakeholders as well as the obligations and objectives of the protected area.
- Membership in a regional network of colleagues and experts in MPA management and operations.
- The potential, if successful in the assessment process, to become an ‘MPA PRO’: Earned recognition as a member of an accomplished group of professionals who meet recognized high standards of competence in key areas of MPA management.

Do I qualify for Level I Certification

Level 1 is designed for the professional who performs practical functions and responsibilities for the day to day management of an MPA such as engaging communities and enforcing laws, and who has basic administrative responsibilities.
