

SEPTEMBER 2020

VOLUME 27 NO 3

NEWSBRIEF

WIOMSA

Coasts Ocean and People

WHAT'S INSIDE?

WMA Beach Team Cleaners
and Recyclers

■ WIOMSA NEWS

- 2 Introduction of the WIOMSA Presidential Award
- 4 Navigating the pandemic: insights from MASMA, Cities & Coasts

■ SPECIAL INITIATIVES

- 6 Coming soon: new website of the Marine Protected Area Practitioners Network (WIOMPAN)
- 7 A new free Massive Open Online Course (MOOC)
- 8 CITES listing of valuable teatfish & Cedrela species enters force

■ HIGHLIGHTS FROM RECENTLY PUBLISHED PAPERS

- 9 What will it take to recover, reimagine and rebuild a successful Blue Economy in Africa?
- 10 Herbivore dynamics can play a big role in marine protection
- 13 Multiple substrates chosen in mass in situ egg deposition
- 14 Addressing coastal & marine fisheries management challenges in Kenya
- 16 A major turnover and loss of coral taxa in Kenyan reefs, despite marine reserve protection
- 18 Sustainable shark fisheries in the WIO?
- 21 Drivers of Change: Extraction of wood for construction and fuel is the biggest contributor to mangrove change in Kenya
- 23 Farming seaweed transforms coastal villages in Kenya
- 25 Mollusc shell fisheries in coastal Kenya reveals overfishing
- 27 Restoration of reef sharks may be possible

■ REGIONAL NEWS

- 30 Highlights from a MARG I study
- 32 Contributions of local community organizations to sea turtle and marine mammal conservation in Zanzibar
- 34 Developing a framework to assess the ecological condition of mangrove forests
- 36 Turning "trash into cash"

■ NEW PUBLICATIONS

- 39 New Guidelines for the Assessment of Environmental Flows
- 40 New Publication Provides Momentum for Development of an Ocean Governance Strategy for the Western Indian Ocean Region
- 42 Issue 11 of the WIOMSA Magazine focusing on Ecosystem Restoration mangrove ecosystems
- 43 New guidelines to strengthen efforts to protect and restore mangrove ecosystems